

TOP 10 Master Data Management Must Haves

Master Data Management executives tell us every quarter about their must haves. Here are their most urgent ones.

01

Partner closely with the Cybersecurity Team to ensure data is protected and security standards are maintained.

02

Partner with the data and information services team to perform detailed design and implementation of data platform and business solutions.

03

Guarantee your operation serves as business owner of master and reference data management for your organization to represents its business interests.

04

Warrant that your process assists with training and support to IT and the Business on data governance and data management related topics.

05

Lead the information management team to define enterprise master data standards, establish and lead enterprise MDM governance.

06

Develop experience creating data workflows and process flow diagrams, business or technical requirements documents, and product support documents.

07

Develop experience implementing data governance process and procedures across business units with master data management principles and techniques.

08

Be certain that your organization translates business goals, user needs and process improvements into data management functions and requirements.

09

Engage with business and IT stakeholders in requirements understanding and solution design for data management and analytics applications.

10

Harmonize data business rules and processes across the enterprise in support of standardized customer and product information.

ARE YOU PREPARED TO TACKLE THESE?

LEARN HOW TO DRIVE FASTER ACTION ON MASTER DATA MANAGEMENT WITH THE ART OF SERVICE CRITICAL CAPABILITIES

LEARN MORE